The happings of commercial, banking and Tailroad concerns swept into insolveney duing the year are estimated at $2,000 -003,600. The cause of the pamie is briefly yet graphically told, as fol- int. This unfortensie condition of financial and commercial demoralization was not the result of a failure of crops, or of a devasting war, or of a disastrous configration, or of a destruction of real wealth. It was caused by a defiance of economic laws, which resulted in an impairment of the confidence of the people in the stability of the currency, and created apprehension at home and abroad as to the ability of the Government to maintain at par nearly $600,000,000 of silver, with a gold reserve of less than $100,000,000.

At the time, wheat was selling in Chicago at a dollar, or thereabouts, a bushel. It is now selling for close to fifty cents a bushel and, as was noted in this column, yesterday, a conference of German agriculturists, called ransacked by burglars, Saturday to devise measures of relief from the unprecedented depression in prices for farm products, separated after in exactly the same manner as the practical agreement that the cause of thieves entered Mr. Geo. > Mrs. Hosier was sixty-one years old last September. She had been suffering from nervous troubles for some time, and it is thought this was the primary cause of her mental trouble.

> This morning, she got breakfast for her husband and appeared to be cheerful and happy. Mr. Rosier went to his work and about 9 o'clock, had occasion to pass the kitchen door and found it looked. He looked in the window and saw the trap door over the cistern open and at once forced his way into the room only to find his fears were well founded. Mrs. Hosier's dead body was in the clatern, and the fact that she had securely looked the door, was an evidence of suicide.

Mrs. Hosier's malden name was Hunter. She was married in 1866. and until a short time ago has resided near Circleville.

She is survived by five brothers and one sister. The latter is Mrs. Martha L. Sutherland, of this city. The brothers are Josiah and Solomon Hunter, of California; Daniel Hunter, of Lemon, Pa.; Edward, of Morroe, and Geo. F., of Circleville. Two sisters, Mrs. William Hallock, of Washingtonville, and Mrs. Morgan Shuit, of Monroe, died several years

Mrs. Hosier was held in the highest esteem by all who knew her, and the sad ending of her life is deeply regretted. Coroner Decker has been notified, and will hold an inquest.

It was reported, this morning, that there was trouble on Academy avenue, on account of the employment of a number of Italians by the Electric Railway Co. INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

A New Route Proposed by the Traction Company-Allee Conkling in Jait-The

New Street Sprinkler. From our regular correspondent.

-The Middletown-Goshen Traction Co., last evening, presented an application to the Board of Trustees of Goshen, for a franchise over a new route, as follows: Through Grand street, to Canal, to Church, to John, to Court street and terminate in rear of the Court House and jail, thereby entirely avoiding Main street, the laying of tracks on which has caused nearly all the objection to the road. The following communieation accompanied the application: To the Board of Trustees of the Village of Goshen:

GENTLEMEN: - Owing to the objections offered by a number of the residents of the village of Goshen to the proposed route in our application filed with your Board, we wish to with-draw the application now before your Board, and to substitute therefor another application which we hope will meet the views of the people of your village and to assure you that it is our desire and intent to advance the interests of the village and to build up for you instead of in any way injuring your village, or deter-iorating your property along the line of our proposed road. After building our road to your village it will be to our interest as much as to yours to enhance the value of everything connected with the village of Gosben, and also in time to reach out beyond you to other points, thereby drawing people to you from all directions.

In our new application we have avoided your principal thoroughfares and have only used streets that cannot in any way work an injury, and yet will bring us so close to important points in the village that our road will be useful and desirable to people wishing to visit your place, and also be accessible to the inhabitants near its line for their use and comfort. It will make the property along the line more valuable as a place of residence for people wishing to build neat little homes and live accessible to depots and other public

It is our greatest desire to work entirely in harmony with the people, and we feel, if our petition is granted, that within a very short time we will be considered by all as a benefaction instead of an injury. Trueting that all objections have been met in this our new application. and assuring you as well as the people that we are ready and willing to meet all objections, and hope that not only your board, but the residents will aid us with their consent to operate our road, and we further assure you it will be of such great value that you will in time want us to extend it much further than your village without our having to ask for the privilege. We tope then to demonstrate that those who have thrown objections in our way in the beginning of this enterprise have done us a great injustice.

From a special correspondent

The first passenparticularly delightful and many ger train east reached New York on would be glad to hear him as is so-

Miss Howland as usual sang very charmingly. Miss Harmon did not produce so pleasant an impression, her voice not being especially sympathetic and her high notes being harsh and unmusical.

The elecutionist, who so often forms an objectionable feature of an entertainment, was on this occasion much above the average. His rendering of Longfellow's Robert of Sicily was his best effort. He was assisted in this by the Schumann Olub, who, in the character of monks. sang the Magnificat behind the scenes.

The young ladies' choruses were daintily sung and heartily applauded, "In Old Madrid" especially being sung with excellent spirit and expression

Mrs. Audrus's many friends were delighted to find that she had recovered sufficiently to act as accompanist, and expressed their pleasure demonetratively upon her appearance.

The next of the series of concerts in our village will be on the evening of Wednesday, June 6th, when " The Seasons" will be given with full chorus and orchestra and noted artists as soloists.

AM "ARGUS" MAN OFF DUTY AIMS AT SEVERAL SUBJECTS

Sparrows Making Thomselves Teefal at Last-Sunchine and Chadew Straw. berries-Sumpors and the Weather.

I notice in some of the New Jersey papers that in the localities in which the seventeen-year locusts have appeared, the sparrows are waging a destructive warfare against them. Those who have observed the locusts and the sparrows say that the birds watch the locusts closely, and when they burst from their shells and attempt to fly the sporrows pierce them with their bilis. They do not eat the locusts, or at all events they eat but one out of a hundred or so that they kill. It is the innate " quesedness" of the bird that finds expression in the slaughter, (A born rowdy and bully, it wages war on the locuste because they are weak and defenseless and because it is as natural for a sparrow to destroy something as it is for it to fly. Farmers have long regarded sparrows as an unmitigated nuisance, but if they rid the earth of locusts they may be able to win back in some small degree the good opinion of the farmers which they have lost by their destructiveness, losferiahness and Cozeyite

In front of a North street grocery. this morning, I noticed a few backets of home-grown strawberries, almost side by side with a crate of Jersey berries. The latter were brilliant in their coloring,—a clear bright red,—which showed that they had grown under cloudless skies and had been painted by the supshine's magic touch, while the Orange county berries, dull, instroless and almost colorless told that they had ripened under skies valled by heavy, leaden clouds. The contrast in appearance was so much in favor of the Jersey berries that most customers gave only one look at the home-grown baskets. When it comes to eating the berries the wisdom of preferring those from abroad will be most apparent for a strawberry that has ripened in the shade, is sour and tasteless, lacking all the richness and delicacy of flavor that the sun's warm kisses give,

If I remember rightly, I have once or twice referred to the fact that one of the pet theories of a very intelligent friend of mine is that when things go wrong in several directions atonce, it is because of the maliga influence which spots on the sun exert on mundane affairs. The gentleman of whom I write is usually of a very optimistic ture, but this morning be was given over to the rankest kind of pessimism. The vile weather, he deplared, was ruining the crops and the business of the country; everything was at a standstill, for what business the weather badn't spoiled the strikers had killed; belf the people had gone crasy with populiet berories, we hadn't had any luck since the sun got spotted and wouldn't have any luck till the spots cleared off. By a curious contacidence few minutes afterwards, I came across a statement published by M. Flammation, an eminent French astronomer, to the effect that at no time in twenty years have the spots on the sun been as meny or as large, as they now are. Observations as to the effect of sun spots on terrestrial weather have not been exact or long continued enough to be made the basis of any scientific deduction, but it does seem as if there might be a very close connection between the spo ted sun and this vile spell of weather. At all events, sun spots or -no sun spote, the weather to very much out of joint, and, woist of all. seems likely to stay so.

—We understand that we will be able to buy ice cream from seven different places here, this summer. This is an increase of four since last year. That's the way, when a village like ours is trying to move ahead, there are always those to try to freeze it.

-The band stand is being thor oughly overhauled by Carpenter Brooks. A new roof and sides are among the improvements.

-The final reception given by the Junior Club, for the season, was held in Academy Hall, on Wednesday evening. It was a great success, both socially and financially.

-The band concerts are soon to commence.

-Photographer McCarthy has pitched his tent on the Chambers lot, -Brief mention was made in these columns of the death of Edward Luquer, one of Montgomery's most promising sons, who was killed by socident, while driving a vagon for the Reid Ice Oream Company in Chicage. We are now able to write more definitely of the unfortunate affair. While delivering cream with his wagon about noon, on Thursday, he jumped into the vehicle and spoke to the horses to go on. One rein had falled down on the whiffetrees and in bending over to grasp it, he lost his balance and fell over forward, both wheels passing over his body in the region of his waist and breaking three ribs. He lived about four hours after the accident. The body was forwarded here and the funeral was held from the house of his mother, near here, Sunday afternoon. A large crowd was present and the body was laid to rest in the Presbyterlan Cometery. He leaves a mother and four brothers, Abram, New-
